Rebel Ideas of Education

The New Bedford (Massachusetts) Standard says:

The managers of the late Southern Confederacy took all pains to imbue the rising [illegible] generation with due spirit of [illegible] and a sense of the importance of the [illegible] [illegible] of leniency among the nations of the world [illegible] say in the universe at large—[illegible] the means of printing this feeling [illegible] prepared a series of school [illegible] of which is a Palmetto series, [illegible] a geography for beginners by the Rev. K. [illegible] Stuart, with a vignette in which the palmetto [illegible] most prominent [illegible]. It purports to be [illegible] Richmond, and is very neatly printed [illegible] with maps and engravings. After the preliminary definitions and some lessons in [illegible] we find [illegible] geography, and we learn that the [illegible] of North America [illegible] as follows: [illegible] America. The Confederate States, the United States, etc., etc.

Turning over a page or two we find Richmond [illegible] placed next to London and Paris among the cities of the globe, and as "remarkable for the elegance and refinement of its people, who, like the citizens of Norfolk, are as hospitable as they are intelligent and noble." In reference to the history of the Confederate States we learn that when Virginia adopted the Federal Constitution in 1788 the Commissioners of the State were directed to annex the condition and reservation of [illegible] right to withdraw from the federation at will, and that in the exercise of this reserved right she withdrew from the United States in 1861 and also refused to allow the troops of the Northern States to pass through her territory to subjugate the other States which had already seceded, and that she became the principal seat of war of southern independence. The first collision of this war, we learn, occurred at Charleston, and was occasioned by the President elected by citizens of the Northern States attempting to reinforce and occupy the forts in the harbor, and turn their guns on the city they were designed to protect. We also learn that "every effort that human ingenuity could contrive, by immense resources of money and vast armaments on sea and land, was made by the Northern Government to capture the Capital and other important places, and break up the political organization of the Confederacy," but that "by the constant, evident and acknowledged aid of the God of battles and King of nations, their efforts have all failed; and at vast expense of suffering and blood, the people of the Southern states have fought their way to political independence and the respect and amity of the great nations of the world."

We have several pages devoted to the productions from scenery, lauds and manufactures of the Confederate States. In reference to Great Britain we learn that its common law is embodied from the great principles of the book of Leviticus, and that the Crown "derived its authority from the acknowledged Supreme Ruler of the universe, by Divine right"—a statement which is confirmed by quotations from the prayer book in a foot-note. The Emperor of France is highly eulogised as a brave General, humane and wise governor and [illegible] statesman, "who, without interfering with the religious and spiritual jurisdiction of the Papal Court and the Mohammedan divan, has gradually emancipated the people who were under their political thraldom."

In a note in reference to the Dead Sea, we learn that it was explored by an American exploring party under the command of Commodore Lynch, of the Confederate States Navy, leaving it to be inferred that the expedition was inaugurated by the Confederate States.

Passing over to the United States we learn that there are but nine of them, besides what remain of the original thirteen, and that in the year 1861 the Federal Government of these States, by a sectional minority of one million seven hundred thousand (out of a total of five millions), attempted to subjugate the Southern States by military occupation, "which occasioned the final separation of those States and the formation of the Confederate States of America as an independent Government."

Payne the Assassin.

Payne is charged with the attempted assassination of Secretary Seward. He is a Kentuckian, the family having lived about Uniontown, is one of a family of six brothers, four of whom were notorious as desperadoes of the most demoniac character, and who took to the rebellion as naturally as ducks take to water. While the rebels occupied Hopkinsville, Kentucky, one of the brothers murdered a brother rebel named Brooks, and if the people of Hopkinsville had been called upon to vote a choice as to which of the twain should be killed by the other, the choice would have been one of embarrassment. There would have been a unanimous vote among the loyal people in favor of a Kilkenny cat affair of it. Payne had to fly from the rebel command. The brothers are known to many persons here in connection with the celebrated gold seizure by Gen. Shackelford while Colonel of a Kentucky regiment. The Paynes while operating with the Confederacy, concluded to try their hand at depredating upon that concern. They got up a good counterfeit of the Confederate money, which they traded to a Georgia banker for sterling bills.

After the Paynes got away with their plunder, the banker discovered the character of the Confederate money, and made an arrangement with Lee, a loyal East Tennesseean, for the recovery of the money. He got upon the track of the counterfeiters, and discovered that nearly all the money had been placed in the custody of one man. Lee made arrangements with the custodian by which the money was surrendered for a consideration. While on his way south with this, Colonel Shackelford, who exhibited throughout his career in Southwestern Kentucky, remarkable powers in tracking all kinds of contraband operations, got on the scent of the gold for which the sterling bills had been exchanged, and seized it and effectually stopped the transmigration of the treasure to Georgia. The case was tried in the United States Court in this city, and the money was confiscated. But Secretary Chase very properly remitted a portion to Lee, in consideration of the fact that but for his agency in the business the United States authorities might never have heard of the property.

The Confederacy got hold of one of the Paynes and hung him for this counterfeiting transaction. This of itself shows how utterly depraved must have been the character of Payne, because, when a man got to be so bad that the Confederacy had no further use for him but to hang him, there is [illegible] no other place that has ever been heard of that could be supposed a fit receptacle for him, though we are far from asserting positively that that will be a suitable home for him, unless he were subject to solitary confinement.

[illegible] the rest of the precious family went to Texas and bought a large drove of cattle with some of this counterfeit money, and drove the cattle [illegible] Vicksburg and sold them. One of this [illegible] be one who was hung at Natchez. The [illegible] Payne probably found the Confederacy [illegible] hot for him, and when those traitorous Canadian [illegible] Clay, Jake Thompson, Beverly Tucker, George N. Sanders, Cleary, and the rest of the Commissioners of Jeff. Davis in Canada were organizing a scheme of assassination they were [illegible] embarrassed with their recruiting material. The reader will remember that when the precious scoundrels Jake Thompson, [illegible] Clay, George N. Sanders and the rest of Davis [illegible] were organizing Texas at [illegible] the two Paynes were chosen instruments. The [illegible] companions [illegible] of congeniality [illegible] in Canada [illegible] colony of the Southern Confederacy, the palladium [illegible] where crimes of [illegible] no less successful [illegible] Payne was selected by the Canadian [illegible] [illegible] that the Confederate [illegible] in the [illegible] for assassination. Payne [illegible] in the work on the 4th of March but [illegible] [illegible] Mrs. Surratt [illegible] At her house he passed under the name of [illegible] whether Beaver [illegible] we do not know.

[illegible] Judge Lewis Johnson said: "Mercy has been [illegible] Let us now take care that Justice is not slain also."

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 8, 1865

The Willamette Valley Railroad

The Statesman quotes from a recent article which appeared in this paper setting forth the desirableness of having a railroad through to California, and while it admits that there is [illegible] a great deal of sound sense in it, its judgement that good common roads are more to be desired than even a railroad. Certainly good roads are greatly wanted. During the summer and autumn the roads of Oregon may be kept in good order with very little labor, but in the winter season we doubt whether any expenditure of money is likely to be made which will tend to keep them in an easily passable condition. Labor well directed will however do much to improve them. But if all our roads were put in the best possible order we should find that the country would prosper little better than before, unless a railroad should be also constructed to create a market for the commodities which the industry of the State produces. Were our roads never so good farmers would not be able to haul their produce with profit to places from whence it could be sent readily and with little cost out of the State to those who desire to be purchasers and consumers. Portland is the principal shipping point for Oregon, and roads can never be made from here to the head of the valley over which producers can profitably haul what they desire to send to market. Without a railroad, good common roads would not serve our purposes. Without numerous good roads ramifying the country as lateral branches a railroad could not easily be sustained. But if the latter were built the former would at once be constructed. Both interest and necessity would urge the improvement of the roads by which the main line would receive its supplies. To construct short roads from either side of the valley to the railroad depots would be but a small work. And when a railroad is built, making it necessary to improve our other roads, we may be certain it will be done.

To build a railroad through the whole length of Oregon and far into California, is indeed a stupendous work, but it is very certain to be performed. Oregon is not rich enough to carry the enterprise through, and capital for that purpose must come from elsewhere. It will devolve on us who want this road, to show them who may be disposed to aid in building it, that it is an investment for money which will prove remunerative. Calculations already made, show what the probable cost of the road will be. Whenever it is fully demonstrated that the business of the State will entirely justify the investment, the work will be undertaken.

The Statesman thinks Portland is an enemy to the road. We know not what what this assumption is based upon, since our city has never in the slightest degree discouraged the enterprise. It may be that some think the railroad would be a detriment to Portland, and so suppose us to regard it with disfavor on that account. Portland, however, is quite willing to take the chances with the rest of the State in the race for prosperity. Build the road and then let us see what places flourish most and attain the greatest importance.

COEUR D'ALENE.—The latest advices which we receive from the reputed gold discoveries of Coeur d'Alene, indicate that the account of their failure, which we published a day or two since, is true. Like all other reports about the discovery of new mines, little that is traceable to any perfectly veracious source, has yet been received regarding the mines which have recently been creating so great a sensation. It is very certain that the people of Walla Walla and Lewiston credited the rumors that were flying through the country of the extraordinary richness of Coeur d'Alene. For some weeks the excitement was intense, as is proved by the rapid depopulation of other districts in the great rush to be first at the new field. It appears that Mr Chas Wilson and others of his party were the persons chiefly instrumental in giving publicity to the reports touching the alleged discoveries. Whether their statements are to be verified, is now to be seen. It is certain that gold exists in the region spoken of, since Capt. Mullan's party discovered traces of it years ago, but whether it is there in paying quantities is a question to be settled. Prospecting parties when they discover gold are very apt to mislead themselves into making exaggerated statements about the pay which their diggings promise them. It is likely that in this manner the story of Coeur d'Alene has grown into so great an excitement.

GENERAL BANKS.—This officer has sometimes failed in the late war, and there are not above three or four who have not. Many unfounded reports have been put in circulation respecting him, not because of his failures, but because his policy has not suited the views of his maligners. It is an answer to General Banks' accusers that President Lincoln had confidence in his integrity and that he indorsed his administration in New Orleans. It has been said that he was recalled from Louisiana because he had been guilty of peculating cotton which belonged to the Government, and sharing its proceeds with the favorites who aided in the scheme. A dispatch from Washington, disposes of this slanderous report by showing why he was recalled:

General Grant stated this morning that General Banks had been recalled because the military force everywhere was being reduced. General Canby, being of the regular army, was the proper officer to remain in command of the Department of the Gulf. Those who are circulating stories to the prejudice of General Banks are known to be inspired by hostility to his organization of Louisiana.

CANADIAN DISCONTENT.—The people of Canada evidently consider themselves unhappily situated. They murmur because their enterprising young men do not choose to remain in inactivity at home, but prefer to come over to the United States where an ample field is offered for the exercise of their industry. They grumble portentious y about being abandoned by England, and would threaten withdrawal from political connection with the "parent country," did they imagine Great Britain would oppose the proceeding or the United States encourage it. One of their papers, greatly dissatisfied, says:

The British Government has refused to acknowledge this country as a portion of the Empire, still refuses to treat it as such by systematically and persistently declaring their purpose to abandon the Western Peninsula, and that other portion of the country to the east of the St. Lawrence in case of invasion. And how they can either expect the expression of attachment under these circumstances or taunt with disloyalty a people who have been thus virtually ostracised by the only power to which they owe allegiance, does not seem plain.

THE "MENDACIOUS MENDICANT" AGAIN.—"South Boise," the imaginative correspondent of the Sacramento Union—the person who after untold trials lived to bless his stars that he had reached Idaho by the Columbia river route because old age and decrepitude came upon him (so great was the distance and so exhausting the journey,) is out in another letter to the Union which he "latitudinally" says that wagons had been out forty-eight days from Umatilla on the road to Idaho City and had not yet been heard of! Of course this fellow designs to tell the truth. By his showing, the balance is so great to that far off land that he will never live to see civilization again.

Master John W. Pollman, of Walla Walla has gone from that place to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. He was appointed through Mr. Cole, late Delegate to Congress from Washington Territory.

SCHUYLER AT VIRGINIA, NEV.—On the evening of June [illegible], Mr Colfax delivered a speech at Virginia City. We give some extracts:

Twenty years ago, it you [illegible] back but a short time since, we knew nothing of mineral wealth in the United States. We had not then acquired California, New Mexico, or Arizona and the little gold washing on the rivers of Georgia and North Carolina were so infinitesimal that they amounted to but a feather's weight in the balance. Since that time how wondrous has been the development of mineral wealth. California, Arizona, New Mexico and Nevada, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Washington and Oregon—all these vast [illegible] teeming with mineral wealth; [illegible] but there not twenty years ago [illegible] within the limits of the United States [illegible] the mineral wealth [illegible] from the public [illegible]. Now, it opens [illegible] and at a time when [illegible] that Mr. Lincoln spoke truly when he said the prosperity of the Union [illegible] the precious metals [illegible] from the barren hills [illegible] before yielded nothing but sterility, and give it to your country so much the more [illegible] that country in the [illegible] of prosperity and power. There was an [illegible] who once said, and I think truly, that that person who could make two blades of grass grow where one grew before, proved himself a public benefactor, and I think that the man who, though toiling for himself and family [illegible] that man, [illegible] though he may be in these mines, and taking out what was before worthless [illegible] the public—[illegible] the material [illegible] of the country is a public benefactor as well.

In regard to taxing the mines the speaker said:

There is a tax on [illegible] in the leaf, [illegible] there is a tax upon the corn, out of which the whiskey is made. When the corn is manufactured into whiskey then the Government puts the tax on the whiskey. When the tobacco is manufactured into cigars or plug, then the tax is put on. This is the policy of the General Government in this respect. There is only one exception to it. That is cotton. Cotton is taxed when it is produced in the field. There is a reason for that. "Cotton used to be king." We concluded that we would see if we could not tax the king. That is the only exception in the law. In every other case the tax is put away from the producer until the article is manufactured and ready for consumption. You understand already what I am going to say to you. That is just my theory in regard to the taxation of the precious metals. Don't embarrass the men who are taking the precious metals out of the mines, but when these metals are all saved, when they enter into the monetary wealth of the country then they will be taxed; and then, whether you like it or not, they must be taxed. I think that is the true basis to put this whole question upon in Congress, and present it in that way, I believe that you can command success and that protection for your interests which you need and justly require.

Speaking of the Pacific Railroad, of the necessity of building it, and of the vast use it will be to the whole country, Mr. Colfax remarked:

I believe the Pacific Railroad to be a national and political and military necessity, I believe that there should be a railroad binding this continent together with its iron bands. It is riveted and banded together now by mountains, and river and plain upon which are written "What God has joined together, let no man put asunder." And when the tide of immigration poured across these plains and made these States of the Pacific coast, looking out over the slope of the Sierra, across the Pacific ocean to the birth place of mankind, the continent of Asia, I believed it was our duty, the duty of those of us living in the older States, to make this means of transit between the Pacific and Atlantic States, not a slow and tollsome journey by ox or horse or mule teams, but by the iron horse that we have in all other portions of the land. Years and years ago, before there was a Pacific Railroad bill passed in Congress, I was its earnest advocate. When men talked about the amount of money that should be paid by the General Government for a line of road, I said that was not an iota in the balance in comparison with its national benefits. Since that time the necessity for it has been enhanced. It is needful for the development of the mineral wealth. Go with me to Austin where I saw vast seams of silver with my own eyes. There are mines there which would be sources of wealth on either side of the Sierra Nevada. Many of them could be worked and developed, but cannot be now. Why? Because of their distance from their base of supplies, because of the great cost of freight of machinery. But when we have a Pacific Railroad opening up this vast mineral region with all its enormous resources, then the mining pioneers of our country will be able to work with great profit their mineral lands which cannot now be worked at all. It will pay back to our national treasury far more than the bonus which may be given to aid in the construction of such a railroad or railroads, it will add to our national wealth, besides being a bond of union firm as the eternal hills over which the tracks will run, and I believe that is about to come.

DISPATCH FROM STANTON TO COLFAX.—During the hour in which the telegraph worked on the 21st the following was received by Colfax at Placerville:

WASHINGTON, June 21st.

To Hon. Schuyler Colfax: I congratulate you on your safe arrival thus far on your journey. Nothing of any political importance has transpired here recently except the withdrawal of belligerent rights from the rebels by France, England and Belgium. The President has appointed Provisional Governors in North Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi, and will probably soon appoint for the other rebel States. There has not any necessity for a special session of Congress occurred and none is expected. Seward and son are recovering. Mrs. Seward is dying. Through the day rebel [illegible] are applying for pardon and amnesty. The army is being rapidly reduced. Our foreign relations are reported by Seward to be in a satisfactory condition. Wishing you a safe and prosperous journey, I am yours, truly,

EDWIN M. STANTON.

OUR NATIONAL CREDIT.—The London Times [illegible] and indorses a statement of the New York Journal of Commerce that if our National debt is not paid within two or three years it will be in danger of repudiation. That statement could have been dictated by nothing but malignant party spirit. It was an abominable libel upon the American people. This debt is as sure of being paid as next winter's snows are to melt. The process may be quick or it may be slow, but, in either case alike, it will certainly be consummated. American honesty is not degenerating. It will last more than two or three years. Our children will have quite as much of it as we ourselves. If we mean to found a public policy upon the assumption that they are to be a race of scoundrels, we may better let the Republic find its death here and now. They certainly would not be worthy of it.—New York Times.

A NEW INQUIRY INTO CONSPIRACY.—We understand that [illegible] that about the first of April [illegible] several attempts to obtain a [illegible] Thompson's drug store corner of Fifteenth street and New York avenue. [illegible] Harold [illegible] [illegible] that [illegible] the plan of the conspirators was to get Harold a place in the drug store [illegible] to the drug [illegible] Dr. [illegible] of the conspirators [illegible] Harold [illegible] with those allusions.—Washington Republican.

Certain persons in California having charged that Chief Justice Sanderson of that State was a disloyal at in the early part of the war, the Sacramento Union declares that no man in California has been a more ardent supporter of the Government than he. According to the Union, he took a stand with other patriotic Democrats against the rebellion the moment the South began the war. His course, it is said, has been consistent throughout.

WAS HE SUCCESSFUL?—The New York World, in summing up the merits and demerits, the successes and failures of our Generals and those of the rebels, classes McClellan with Grant, Sherman, Meade, Sheridan and others of glorious fame. McClellan was a not less pitiable failure than Fremont on the side of the Union, or of Bragg on that of the rebels. History is inexorable and will judge men by their deeds.

THE DAILY MAIL.—The California Stage Company will continue to carry the mail to Lincoln, California, until the close of the present month. By that time it is said, Mr Reeside will have his arrangements completed and will then undertake the work.

The Columbia River Route to the Mines

YAKIMA, W. T., June 23, 1865.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

In the Sacramento Union of the 8th of June appears a letter purporting to have been written by a correspondent over the signature of South Basin, dated Idaho City, May 1, 1865, in which he endeavors to [illegible] the route from San Francisco by way of Portland and the Columbia River to Idaho City, and Oregon [illegible] and relates his imaginary trials in crossing the Blue Mountains. [illegible]

Having since December 1862 [illegible] resided in [illegible] the greater portion of the time, having travelled over all [illegible] of the State, having [illegible] travelled over a great portion of the gold region north east of California and being conversant with the route of which he speaks so disparagingly, and with a [illegible] that which he [illegible] have I [illegible] of reference, and of which I am satisfied few [illegible] know anything, there I will make a few comments on his letter. The writer says that he was "over two months on the way from San Francisco," and at eight times the amount of travelling expenses set forth in the Portland [illegible] as, which gives correctly the $1 and $2 per meal, on the river boats as well as the cost of the wretched meals on the [illegible] on the road [illegible] not what the [illegible] the travelling expenses, let [illegible] and the time occupied in travelling from San Francisco to Boise City but [illegible] that at the time he alleges to have travelled to San Francisco to Idaho City (at Lewiston) [illegible] when the road were in their worst [illegible] required [illegible] thirteen days travelling time [illegible] person paid more than seventy [illegible] per meal on any [illegible] [illegible] steamer and that the [illegible] as good as those on any other road of the Pacific [illegible] the same length into the interior, and the charges as moderate.

The time occupied, travelling expenses, and the prices of fare, &c., from San Francisco to Boise, are: From San Francisco to Portland per ocean steamer, time four days, fare in cabin $45, meals included, steerage $20, freight $30 per ton. From Portland to Dalles per river steamer and railroad, time one day, fare $10, meals extra, seventy five cents, freight $15 per ton. From Dalles to Umatilla and Wallula per railroad and river steamer, time one day, fare $12—meals extra seventy five cents, freight after the 1st of July $15 and $17 per ton. From Umatilla and Wallula to Boise City, per stage, time after the 10th of July, three days, fare, $60, meals, $1, freight, per teams, six to nine cents.

The gentleman then proceeds to relate his troubles, camping, wading, swimming, &c., and I greatly suspect drinking, as that is the only state in which I can conceive him to have been to have required over two months in travelling from San Francisco to Idaho City and to have conceived snow from two to ten feet deep for a short distance to have been over one hundred. He also says that "the merchants here are beginning to understand that goods bought in San Francisco must take a different direction to arrive in the shortest time, and at the least cost, yet there are so many here dependent on the Portland merchants for supplies and credit, that it will be some time before a very great change will take place in the mode of transportation."

Herein, he assigns the best of reasons why freights from San Francisco to the Boise region must go by way of the Columbia river. The cost of transportation from San Francisco to the Columbia river, does not much exceed the cost from San Francisco to Chico, or any other place of transshipment in California. The distance from the Columbia river to Boise, by land is 210 miles, (with the prospect of soon being shortened by water transportation on Snake river,) over an excellent road, plenty of grass and water, and settlements all the way.

The distance from Chico to Boise is about 500 miles, through an Indian country, sparsely settled and a portion of the road almost impassable; therefore, goods shipped overland from California to Boise, will cost double as much for land carriage as goods shipped overland from the Columbia river, and will consume over two weeks longer time. Consequently, goods from San Francisco by the Columbia will arrive at Boise in the shortest time and at the least cost."

As an instance. I understand from a private source, that a gentleman of California, duped by the praises of that State, and those interested in the route has shipped a large amount of freight from Chico to Boise, at 13½ cts per pound, which he considered very low, and that freight cost him nearly as much to Chico, as it would have done to Umatilla or Wallula, and as he can actually ship goods from the Columbia river for about seven cents per pound, and the teamsters will make a much better profit than the one freighting for 13½ cents per pound from Chico, therefore, there must be an actual loss to some party of about six cents per pound besides time, and as the teamster gets a fair price for his labor, it must fall upon the merchant purchasing the goods, if paid for, if not, most likely, upon the San Francisco merchant selling upon a credit. The same rule will hold good in all time to come. When the roads are at their worst and the freights even them at the highest figure, the greater are the advantages of the Columbia river route and the San Francisco merchants will soon learn that they cannot sell goods upon credit to be shipped overland, and compete with the Portland merchants and those of San Francisco shipping via Columbia as the loss will also invariably fall upon those since few merchants will pay cash for merchandise and ship where there must be a loss. The shipping of merchandise overland from California is only gotten up through jealousy, and like all bubbles, if left alone, will soon burst of itself.

Again he says that "one thing is certain that every male or female intending to visit California the coming fall will go direct from Boise City overland and avoid the mountain roads, the Columbia river rapids, the Columbia bar, and Holladay's steamers particularly." Another evidence that the gentleman must have been under aberration of mind, or speaking in the classics of the golden State, had "snakes in his boots," for on the road from Boise City to the Columbia, a distance of 210 miles, there is but from three to five miles of a mountain of easy grade over which teams can haul heavy loads, the remainder being a most excellent road, with good accommodations, good staging time three days in daylight.

From Boise City to Chico a distance of about 500 miles, 40 to 60 miles of mountain road a portion of which is almost impassable for teams, there are no accommodations for travelers no coaches farther than Owyhee travel upon cayuse horses, time from 20 to 25 days with the chances of being scalped by the Indians at any moment. A very pleasant route for a gentleman to take his wife who wishes to get rid of her, and is willing to take the chances or for him to do so, but who will always send their more precious treasure (gold dust), by way of the Columbia.

The Columbia river, that noble stream that drains the waters that wash the gold bed of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, and the British Possessions—a region of country that has, eclipsed the golden State of California—holds not the sobriquet of any person. Its cascades change the monotony of a steamboat ride on a trip from Portland to Dalles, Umatilla and Wallula to a pleasant run of about an hour on twenty miles of good railroad, with good cars and engines. The O. S. N. Co. have boats that will compare with any of the Pacific and persons who have travelled upon them give them the credit of having as good, efficient and gentlemanly a set of officers as can be found on boats navigating the waters of any portion of the United States, and that to and from Portland to Dallas, Umatilla and Wallula it is nothing more than a trip of pleasure.

If the press and citizens of California would devote their time and money to the reduction of freights (which are nearly low enough) and fares (which is nearly double what it should be) and the giving of more frequent ocean steam communication between San Francisco and Portland instead of trying to divert the travel from its natural channel, as the loss must be sustained by California to the future injury of her trade, they would greatly benefit themselves and those whom they seek to injure by retaining a trade a much greater length of time than they otherwise can by pursuing their present course. And if the O. S. N. Co. will allow passengers to go to the steerage at steerage rates, and the stage companies put their fare as low as they can afford, the reduction upon the three different routes will greatly aid the [illegible] the development of the vast resources of this great gold region and in the end advance the interests of the whole.

CONSERVATIVE TEMPERANCE.—At a recent meeting held in Elmira, New York, Rev. T. K. Beecher, a brother of Henry Ward Beecher, took position in favor of the use of ales and wines as a proper stimulant of temperance. He said that he had so taught from his pulpit and he should do it again; that he had advised Messrs. Briggs & Baxter to rebuild their brewery in the interest of the temperance cause, that he had a barrel of good ale in his cellar but there was a single saloon in Elmira where a glass of good ale could be procured, as he had tried almost every one of them.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.

A terrible tragedy occurred at the St. Francis Hotel, corner of Clay and Dupont streets about 3 o'clock this afternoon. Billy Mulligan who was expatriated by the Vigilance Committee in 1856, but been laboring under an attack of [illegible] tremens yesterday. To day he threatened the lives of several persons, and when they attempted to arrest him he retreated to his room in the St. Francis Hotel threatening to kill any person who should attempt to enter. Officer Clappille entered the room, when Mulligan fired twice at him. Clappille retreated [illegible] and [illegible] Mulligan then [illegible] and fired shots down Dupont street. John Hart, foreman of Lombard Engine [illegible] coming up the street and received the ball in his heart, killing him instantly. Several parties tried to enter Mulligan's room, but were intimidated by his threats. Jack McNabb, a gambler well known through the State, deputing upon the friendship that existed between Mulligan and himself, attempted to reach Mulligan's room and partly [illegible] him. [illegible] was shot at the foot of the stairs looking to Mulligan's room. The ball struck him in the shoulder ranging downwards and entering the stomach. He retreated to the ground floor, saying "Billy has killed me," and shortly after was expired. The excitement had now become most intense. Several policemen armed with muskets were stationed at the windows of the house on the opposite side of Clay Street. One of them catching a glimpse of Mulligan, fired and missed him. Mulligan then came down to the second story and passed out at a doorway, when he was shot through the head and instantly killed by a policeman. Mulligan was arrested yesterday at the request of some of his friends and was confined in the station house all night. His friends say that he was delirious when discharged from custody this morning, and they censure the police for setting him at liberty while in such a dangerous state.

The jury in the Moses Frank case last night, found a verdict of guilty of forgery with a recommendation to the mercy of the court. Frank will be sentenced on the 14th inst.

The Collins overland telegraph expedition under command of Col. Chas. S. Bulkley, will sail on Monday morning for Victoria whence they will proceed north to the field of operations. The expedition consists of the bark Golden Gate, six 12 pounders, and the propellor Geo. S. Wright, 2 guns, bark Palmetto, 2 guns, schooner Milton Badger, 2 guns and the bark Clara Bell, 2 guns. The three latter vessels are already in northern waters. The land force, including exploring parties, will number about 1,500 men.

Capt. Harding, of the American ship De Ivey, made complaint to day before Commissioner Hensted, charging Fred Watson, Jerry Griffin and C. Thompson, alias Joseph Perry, with the crime of mutiny on the high seas.

LOS ANGELES, July 7th. On the evening of the 5th a difficulty occurred between Robert S. Carlisle and A. King, in which King was slightly cut and Carlisle fired at. Carlisle was unhurt, but a stranger was stabbed in the thigh. Friends interfered and prevented anything further. Next morning while Carlisle was sitting in the bar room of the Bella Union two brothers of King's came in to obtain satisfaction for the alleged insult. One of them made an attack on Carlisle and in the scuffle which ensued, the parties passed out of the bar room to the side walk in front where shots were fired by the three engaged. One of the brothers was shot through the breast. Carlisle also received four shots in the breast and while falling raised his pistol, took deliberate aim and fired at the other brother, Frank King killing him instantly. James H. Hander while trying to prevent the difficulty was shot through the side. A stranger was slightly wounded in the thigh by a stray shot. Carlisle died.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Hander it is thought will recover. King is not expected to leave.

SALT LAKE, July 7.—We had an old eastern mail arrive yesterday, but nothing later than received by telegraph.

Col. George, who left Fort Bridger some time since for the scene of Indian troubles, went down to the Sweetwater and did the best he could with the line. He drove the Indians off but had not enough wire with him to repair the line so much more wire than they had anticipated having been carried off by the Indians. The operator from Platte, being the first station beyond Sweet Water, came over and told the operator at the latter place that 1200 cavalry are now on their way from Fort Laramie with wire and everything necessary to put the line in order. We have hopes of its working through to day or to morrow.

On motion the Council adjourned.

THE GUNS THAT WERE HEARD.—Some of the guns fired in the city on the Fourth were scarcely heard a half dozen blocks distant. The one fired from the [illegible] for [illegible] comparison—was but little better than a pocket pistol [illegible] but a few blocks off were in doubt as to its going through the programme at all, until informed [illegible] across the street from the Plaza [illegible] counted the [illegible]. The steamship Sierra Nevada, Capt. Connor, then lying at Couch's wharf, had the guns which fired the only genuine ringing salutes in the city on the Fourth. The mounted [illegible] guns and fired [illegible] port and starboard sides, a salute of thirteen guns at daybreak, thirty-six at noon and thirteen at night. That of [illegible] was a pretty salute [illegible] effects of which may yet be seen about the wharf [illegible] ripped off shingles, [illegible] the siding of the ware-house. Nine shots entered the same house, adjoining the upper wharf [illegible] boards of the building and [illegible] miscellaneously. The property however [illegible] Capt. Couch [illegible] the gun was his, it was the Fourth of July [illegible] that had always [illegible] the Starr Brothers [illegible] was entitled to give a salute. The damage [illegible] could be repaired so the firing kept on and the roar [illegible] rumbling like rolled over the [illegible] and reverberated to the hill tops for miles away [illegible] the day the steamer had been thronged with visitors and in the evening a display of fire works lit up the [illegible] scene.

[illegible] ON FOUR.—Byron has written very many things [illegible] like gems in the pages of English literature [illegible] following lines for instance have a vast deal of po[illegible] in them.

[illegible] one to hear the honest dog bay [illegible] mouthed welcome as we come [illegible] home [illegible] Byron lived in this day and was a printer on a paper in Portland, he would see at once [illegible] exception of the couplet. That every house in [illegible] has a dog—and that every dog has a sleep[illegible] and most insinuating bay we are prepared to [illegible] Indeed here, one in day time can scarcely move [illegible] beset by some cur or whiffet.

[illegible] OF 1865.—The advance of this year's [illegible] has already reached this city and from the [illegible] there can be no question but that the number [illegible] the plains, crossing to Oregon and Idaho [illegible] with this year, greatly exceed that of any former [illegible] They are seeking homes on this coast. The [illegible] of April 29th says the [illegible] and [illegible] that city [illegible] and they are numerous [illegible] Council Bluffs [illegible] one of the "starting points." Nine steamers will [illegible] Boston from St. Louis.

BELL IMPROVED.—The bell of Willamette Engine Co. [illegible] been much improved by the work of Mr. Waldo [illegible] has so interfered with its sound, has [illegible] so as to enable a clearer vibration, and the [illegible] was little better than no bell, is now made [illegible] The work was done by direction of Chief Engineer [illegible] who takes a worthy interest in the affairs [illegible] and especially any part of it which he [illegible] instrumental in forming. He was one of the [illegible] for the purchase of the bell on [illegible]

He [illegible] under the control of the guard when [illegible] they cannot be blamed for his escape.

[illegible] CASCADE.—This fine steamer has been [illegible] of Capt Ankeny's wharf, and is now re[illegible] finishing touches. By Monday the 17th, it is [illegible] will be ready for business and will then take [illegible] of the Julia in the line [illegible] this city and the Cascades, Capt. [illegible] Wolf.

SIDE-WALK.—The contractors for the [illegible] street give notice that property owners have the [illegible] of taking up their own planks and side-walks, [illegible] notified by the Street Commissioners. If they then [illegible] and the contractors [illegible] take up [illegible] plank they [illegible] themselves.

[illegible]—Mr. J. [illegible] has recently [illegible] the city and proposes soon to open a [illegible] here for [illegible] of penmanship drawing, and book keeping, [illegible] samples of his work at our office which we pro[illegible] very well and ably executed.

[illegible] DISCOURSE.—Rev G. B. Taylor, of [illegible] will deliver his third lecture on temperance [illegible] M. E. Church—lecture to begin at 8 o'clock [illegible] will preach in the M. E. Church Sabbath morning [illegible] the evening deliver a discourse on temperance.

[illegible] GROUND.—The plank for curbing and side walks [illegible] street, between Morrison and Harrison streets, [illegible] delivered on the ground and will soon be put into [illegible] place, enabling pedestrians to get along without [illegible] Quite a new thing for Portland!

[illegible]—Senator Nesmith, Secretary May and Judge [illegible] are at present stopping in this city. [illegible] of the Oregon Sentinel is also here.

[illegible] The printers are [illegible] to [illegible] a supply [illegible] freshing [illegible] weather [illegible]

A "SENSATION" STORY.—[illegible] Eastern papers [illegible] and deny the statement that Jeff. Davis [illegible] put in irons. From the first it was ev[illegible] the announcement was a mere sensa[illegible] No indignity that could be offered [illegible] to debase him would be undeserved, [illegible] in close confinement and strongly guarded [illegible] gyves and manacles are needless.

THE PROPHET JEREMIAH ON JEFF. DAVIS.—[illegible] liberal student has made the discovery that [illegible] Jeremiah had a prophetic eye on Jeff. [illegible] foretelling the manner and manner of his [illegible] See Jeremiah xiii 22: "And if thou [illegible] in thy heart Wherefore come these things [illegible] me? For the greatness of thine iniquity [illegible] skirts discovered and thy heels made bare." [illegible] we recollect that Jeff was discovered in [illegible] woman's "skirts" and identified by the exposure [illegible] of his lower legs, the coincidence is funny enough.

After the Indians

[illegible] that at length the Indian Expedition [illegible] fairly in the work [illegible] Indians [illegible] subjection.

[illegible] Indians [illegible] for years past [illegible] and more than all the [illegible] emigrants that has been shed [illegible] the [illegible] knife.

Fortunately the fear of feeling [illegible] character. The [illegible] under Gen. Connor [illegible] entering the Indian country from widely distant points with the view [illegible] entrapping at or near [illegible] and [illegible] or wherever they are, [illegible] which enabled [illegible] will very probably be brought to bay and made to feel the overwhelming power of those whom they despise and defy.

While these columns [illegible] upon the Indian country, it is [illegible] to distribute [illegible] force along the route of travel to protect them effectually [illegible] and for this purpose it is reported that six companies of cavalry are on the way to the North Platte country to punish the Indians who have broken the line [illegible] in that region during the spring. They will doubtless remain in that vicinity through the summer and prevent further interruptions of the telegraph line [illegible] This is a matter of necessity, for the Indian depredations here have been of such frequent occurrence of late that the continued interruption is becoming a serious inconvenience, which we trust will not much longer [illegible]

Orders are issued that District lines must not be allowed to prevent the prompt pursuit and chastisement of hostile bands, and the same rule will doubtless be followed by General Connor in his Indian campaign. His district includes a wide scope of territory and requires a large force to guard it effectually. This force he now has under his command, and no one doubts his disposition and ability to use it to the very best advantage. The task of overtaking the savages is by no means an easy one in the vast country they occupy, but their favorite haunts are doubtless known, and we predict that they will be hunted like wolves until brought to terms. This is the fate they have long been tempting, and it will now pursue them to their very caves of refuge.—Union Vedette.

HOW TO "FREEZE OUT" ENGLAND.—A correspondent of the Sacramento Union writes:

Prof. Minns, of the Normal School in his lecture Wednesday evening on the "Ocean" stated to his audience that the climate of England, its fruitful soil and never failing verdure, were produced by the warm currents of the Gulf Stream that had for endless ages been floating the heated waters of the tropics to the chilling neighborhood of the British isles. He then stated, not merely as his opinion but as a scientific and incontrovertible fact, that if a canal should be made across the Isthmus of Darien, thus changing the current of the Gulf Stream, and diverting it away from the shores of England, the fertile hill sides of that favored land would be covered with perpetual glaciers and her velvet lawns be blasted by the icy breezes that would sweep the island. Now if this is so, and Professor Minns says it is, have we not an easy solution of all our differences with perfidious Albion? Let President Johnson send at once a force of 40 000 contrabands to Aspinwall, armed with pick and shovel, and then let him say to the representatives of England: "Gentlemen, this thing has gone far enough. you can pay those Alabama claims or not, just as you please; but if you don't pay them I'll make an ice-house of your whole island." If our just claims are not immediately liquidated let the simple word "dig" be passed to the army of observation at Aspinwall, and a hole would soon be punched through the Isthmus that would send the Gulf Stream kiting to a more friendly shore.

EX-SENATOR FOOTE REPENTING.—This repentant rebel is now residing in Montreal, and thus replies to the epithet "Hangman Foote" thrown at him by some of his enemies:

The epithet of "Hangman Foote" which you have thought proper to apply to me, I confess is not at all new. I received the appellation fifteen years ago, because of a very foolish and inconsiderate speech which I made in the United States Senate in response to a very courteous and eloquent one delivered by Hale of New Hampshire in denunciation of the system of negro slavery in the South. I confess that I was so unparliamentary as to say on that occasion that he deserved to be hung for using such language as he then uttered. Indeed, I may in reply have employed language of a directly menacing character. Let me declare to you now, though in all frankness, that I was heartily ashamed of having used such language immediately after having done so, and that I seized an early opportunity of making formal atonement for my fault in open Senate and in the hearing of the country which formal atonement was repeated on more than one occasion. Still I must confess that I can scarcely blame any one for applying to me an epithet which it is evident I did so much to justify, and if you and other controllers of the public press still think that the offense which I committed on the occasion referred to was really of an inexpiable nature I will have, with as good a grace as practicable, to submit to wear this terrible shirt of Nessus for the remainder of my life.

IMPORTANT MAIL SERVICE.—The Post Office Department yesterday ordered a contract with John L. Reeside, of Washington D. C., for the conveyance of the mails daily and back on route No. 11 011 from Lincoln, Cal., by Marysville, Central House, Oroville, Rio Seco, Butte Valley, Chico, Rock Creek, Pine Creek, Tehama, Red Bluff, Cottonwood, American Ranch, Shasta, Trinity Centre, Callahan's Ranch, Fort Jones, Yreka, Henley, Ashland Mills, Phoenix, Jacksonville, Rock Point, Grant's Pass, Leland, Galesville, North Canyonville, Myrtle Creek, Roseburg, Oakland, Eugene City, Freedom, Cottage Grove, Corvallis, Albany, Salem, Belpassi, Oregon City, and Milwaukie, to Portland, Oregon.

The route is 640 miles in length. The contract is made to commence on the first day of July next and end on the 30th of June, 1866. The compensation is $225 000 per annum.

Mr. Reeside is the oldest son of the veteran mail contractor, Admiral Reeside, and left Washington last evening fully prepared to perfect all arrangements for his new and important contract.—Washington Chronicle.

REMEMBER IT.—Neither Buchanan, Pierce nor Fillmore draped their houses in mourning for Lincoln's death or funeral.—Ex.

Remember it? Never. Let all good men remember Washington, Lincoln and Andrew Jackson, and forget that the North ever bred three such mean flekspittles as Fillmore, Pierce and Buchanan. Let their punishment be oblivion.—Bee.

HOPE TOLD A FLATTERING TALE.—But never even anticipated so divine a preparation for the toilet, as that delightful preparation Sozodont. So cool and refreshingly agreeable to the mouth and teeth, hardens and invigorates the gums, gives a pure and healthy tone to the breath, cleanses, beautifies and preserves the teeth and arrests decay.

[illegible] IN PEACE.—Now that the [illegible] armies have disbanded, there seems to [illegible] where in the South a disposition [illegible] and heartily in the issue of the war. [illegible] this is the fact that small detachments of Federal troops are penetrating all parts of the Southern States without the slightest [illegible]. Small garrisons have moved to and [illegible] themselves in important positions in Virginia and North Carolina with entire freedom [illegible] has gone as far as Orange [illegible] without any demonstrations of hostility [illegible] transports with troops move [illegible] the Savannah river as far as Augusta, and up the Alabama to Selma and Montgomery. And so all over the South the people show they have had enough of war in the interest of rebellion. Indeed, profound quiet reigns through that region. Railroad travel is restored from Washington city to South Carolina, and working parties are busily engaged in restoring [illegible] over the recent scenes of [illegible] strife. Lines of telegraph are rapidly [illegible] themselves again to the South and [illegible] in a few days each leading city of [illegible] will again be in direct magnetic communication with every other. Commercial steamers traverse freely every Southern river where [illegible] trade offers, and it is fully apparent that before the coming Fall the tide of commerce and travel will be surging to and fro [illegible] of the Southern States as freely as ever. [illegible] they wait only on the influx of capital from the North and Europe, which has always [illegible] and indispensable to the moving of Southern [illegible] to market.—[illegible] Bulletin.

THE MORALS OF THE CAPTURE.—The capture of Jeff. Davis will be regarded in great variety of respects. The ridiculous aspect will probably take the minds of the people first, and while this view of the case is uppermost, an exchange suggests the following moral reflections:

Don't get married. Had not J. D. been encumbered with a large wife and family—we mean a wife and large family, he could easily have made his escape.

Swap even. If you take your wife's petticoats give her your boots. A pair of Mrs. D.'s balmorals would not have betrayed her Lege.

Keep your temper. If the captors of the "President" had not controlled their angry passions he would have "hurt some of 'em."

Be magnanimous. The energetic pursuit of the Davis family has seriously wounded the feelings of the "storm statesman."

Keep moving. If Wilson's cavalry had measured their day's march by a red tape line, J. D. would have given them the slip.

Don't be a coward. J. D. came to grief from his unwillingness to die in the breaches.

Always wear the best. A few more springs in Mr. Davis' hoop skirt might have saved him.

Cultivate the sports of boyhood. In the race at Irwinsville, every Michigan boy showed that he could beat a hoop.

Traitors are always betrayed. J. D. fled to the woods for protection, but they proved to be treesunable.

ANOTHER VICTIM.—The Lewiston (Me.) Journal, of a recent date, has the following:

A young man named Turner, resident of this city, lately from a rebel prison, died from the effects of starvation and sufferings in the Southern charnel house. He returned home utterly emaciated, reduced to skin and bones, eaten by vermin—a pitiable sight. Under the tender care of friends he gained some flesh, but his constitution was undermined, and in some slight effort he ruptured a blood vessel and died. Here is another victim of Jeff. Davis' barbarity—his coolly preconcerted plan that no Federal soldier who fell into his hands should be returned able to bear a musket.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WEEKLY REVIEW

PORTLAND, July 7th, 1865.

We have very little of interest to report in commercial or financial matters for the week. The public mind has been considerably occupied with the celebration of the eighty-ninth anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence, and the excitement connected with and growing out of it—so all-important day to be commemorated, has detracted attention from business pursuits to such extent as to render matters quite unimportant for the period under review.

Importations for the week have been decidedly scarce. But one arrival is mentioned in our marine report for the week, which brought us a general assortment of merchandise. San Francisco freights are inclined to slacken somewhat, and we observe that ships are now longer on the berth for a cargo north than common, but this may be owing in a great measure to the season. There is seldom a very large amount of business doing in those months. Trade from the East, however, in the direction of California, has been very materially reduced for the first five months of 1865, over those of 1864. The number of vessels on the way from Eastern, Atlantic and foreign ports to San Francisco is not much more than one half that of a corresponding period for last year. The New York Shipping List gives the following number of ships dispatched for San Francisco:

January	21	8 (1 coal.)
February	11 (2 coal)	7
March	12 (1 lost)	3
April	9	6
May	12	5
Total	66	29

Or say 50,000 tons of cargo less in 1865 than in 1864, from New York and Boston.

The Shipping List adds that ships are not over abundant, and hillsposed to go at less than former rates. Expenses are reduced but little, and freights never advanced correspondingly with gold. Any revival of trade, either in San Francisco or in any other direction, would make ships absolutely scarce. There are now on the way to California nineteen vessels laden from New York and Boston with the leading articles of merchandise, which have been out from 106 to 32 days, one-third of which contains merchandise for our merchants—Government stores, &c., not included.

The mining share market is still bare of interest. We hear of extensive sales of feet on the ledges and extensions at Owyhee, but so far we have nothing to note in the way of sales of shares at the Portland Stock and Exchange Board. Money continues about as it has been ruling for many months past. It is scarce at 1½@2 ℔ cent. Legal tenders are offering at 73 cents and few sales are noted at 72 cents. This business has been confined to one or two days. The branch of the Bank of British Columbia, to be opened in this city, under the management of Mr. Russell, will soon be ready for business. The late assay office building of Wells, Fargo & Co., on Front street, has been chosen as the business place, and is being handsomely fitted up.

Bullion continues to arrive freely. The last shipment was something over half a million. The shipments for the past six months of 1865, however, have been $586,142 less than for a corresponding period last year, as will be seen by the following table:

	1864.	1865.
January	$ 447,000	$ 305,500
February	327,659	303,500
March	812,190	221,000
April	422,746	436,500
May	472,371	294,000
June	899,407	724,000
Total	$2,881,343	$2,295,200

We attribute this apparent difference to the fact that the season is about two months longer than usual, and parties shipping by express or through the hands of bankers have materially decreased; and hence conclude that there has been a larger amount actually going forward than it has been possible for us to take into account, and really is none less, but as the miners are doing well we are forced to believe it is actually greater.

The produce shipments for six months ending June 30th, 1865, are nearly one-half larger than for the same period in 1864.

Wool is nominally the same, ruling at 13 to 20 cents ℔ ℔. Considerable is on storage awaiting shipment.

Wholesale and Jobbing Prices.

PORTLAND, July 7th, 1865.

Flour finds dull sale at prices noted. Country brands from wagons are quoted at $8@8 50 bbl. Brooklyn, Elk Horn, Magnolia and other brands less choice than the Imperial and Standard are selling to consumers at $10@$11 ℔ bbl. Eight of the Standard and Imperial millers still hold at $12. We hear of no particular demand and but few sales in the market.

Wheat is decidedly inactive. There is little doing in [illegible]. We hear of one small lot of choice Wheat selling from wagons at $1 35 ℔ bushel, but there is no more of any account coming into market. Oats are dull at [illegible] quoted. Buyers are offering today at [illegible].

Bacon is at [illegible] at 24 cts. in the hands of commission merchants. Hams are a shade lower, market dull [illegible] can be purchased from wagons at about [illegible] less, but there are very little coming forward.

[illegible] butter stand about alike scarce, and at ruling [illegible] of present quotations. Eggs in good [illegible] from first hands. Jobbers are disposing of [illegible]. There is but a small amount of domestic [illegible]. Potatoes continue scarce and [illegible] prices.

In the grocery and miscellaneous department of trade [illegible]. We have no transactions of any magnitude to note. All are doing something, but it is on a careful hand-to-mouth principle.

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts, gives strength to the digestive organs, brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

ROCHESTER, March 26, 1864.

Messrs. TILTON & McFARLAND,
Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:—By representations made by Mr. Lillie, I was induced to purchase of him one of his

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in the fire, we asked McKenzie & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make, and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Condition.

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar—such as lard, pork, etc.—their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire, faring, however, no better than ours.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,
(Signed.) GEO. L. CHESBORO & CO

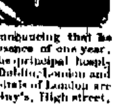
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals of Europe, among them those of Dublin, London and Paris. The following celebrated hospitals of London are among those visited by the Doctor: Guy's, High street, Borough; St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Camb. Place, Pad.; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street; Westminster, Broad Sanctuary; Charring Cross, Agar street, Strand; London, Whitechapel road; Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Doctors Acton of London, Parker of Birmingham, England and Ricord of Paris; who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world, and whose authority is acknowledged to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Diseases.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their new mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore cautious and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney street, near Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

Prevention Better than Cure.

The newly invented Patent French Safe a sure Preventive against Diseases and Pregnancy, sent by mail. Price $2. Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney St., near Commercial San Francisco. Postoffice Box 252.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of these self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, news paper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry. It will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets, for, by advertising physicians in nine cases out of ten are bogus. There is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Doctor Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Doctor Gibbon will cure all persons who may call at his offices of his advertised diseases, if he proposes to cure.

Consultations FREE. m15d3m
